There is a standard of care that is imposed on the directors and officers of a charity which affects the actions and activities of individuals who govern the affairs of the charity. The standard of care also addresses the extent to which the directors of a charity may delegate their responsibilities. One area of delegation involves the investment of a charity's funds. The Trustee Act (the "Act") of Ontario addresses the requirements for the board of directors of a charity to have an investment policy and a monitoring system to oversee the implementation of such a policy.

This investment policy sets out guidelines for the Board of Directors (the "Board") and management to:

1. identify dollars available for investment,
2. determine the appropriate investment types and duration,
3. generally assist the board in meeting its fiduciary duty with respect to making informed investment decisions.

The Act includes a list of seven mandatory criteria that the board of a charity must consider when making investment decisions. These seven criteria are as follows:

- General economic conditions;
- The possible effect of inflation or deflation;
- The expected tax consequences of investment decisions or strategies;
- The role that each investment or course of action plays within the overall investment portfolio;
- The expected total return from income and the appreciation of capital;
- The need for liquidity, regularity of income and preservation or appreciation of capital; and
- An asset's special relationship or special value to the purposes of the trust or one or more of the beneficiaries.

This policy incorporates these criteria and also addresses non-financial concerns. It is intended to be consistent with all federal and provincial legislation.
